“I recall making pies with Eddie for the Hopewell corn roast many years ago. Ron Kelsay was our instructor and supervisor. Despite some initial failures making crusts, we managed to create edible pies and enjoyed the experience.

“Eddie always made sure he said hello to me at Hopewell Presbyterian Church, and asked me how I was doing, whether that was Sundays at church or at the cornroast or after church dinners. He was always able to produce a smile, whenever I saw him which is rare it seems these days. It surprised me when I heard he was 78 because I was certain he was in his mid sixties. Such a nice man to talk to, and I will miss his pleasant demeanor and smile.
