“ Words could never Express the love I had for this woman, or all the amazing selfless things she did for me and my family. We came together in the most unconventional way but I couldn't imagine her not being a part of my life. We built our own little family, with all these incredible traditions. I will miss her every single day and I will love her forever and always. Thinking of everyone who loved her. Especially Eric and their girls.

“ Eric, Words cannot explain my sorrow for you. I know what it is like to lose a douse suddenly and tragically. You will be in shock and experience a variety of feelings over the months and years. It sounds like you will have much support and love. Take care of yourself snd never refrain from asking for help when you need it. I send my love to you and your daughters. You can do this!
