

Beverly K. Glosser

August 13, 1942 - August 28, 2023

Beverly Glosser was born August 13, 1942, in Bloomington, Indiana to Kenneth H. and Virginia V. Johnson. She passed away August 28, 2023 in Bloomington, leaving behind 7 children (Alicia Wilbur, Beth Wilbur, Jeff Wilbur, Andrea McConnell, Chris Wilbur, Eric Wilbur, and Rachel Garrett), 7 grandchildren (Corey Taylor, Kane Wilbur, Chance Wilbur, Nathan Wilbur, Heather Wilbur, Amber Wilbur, and Adam Vale), and 5 great-grandchildren (Cayson Cooper, Chloe Wilbur, Cayden Wilbur, Rose Langfitt, and Opal Langfitt). Beverly was devoted to her husband of 39 years, Roland (Rex) Glosser who preceded her in death in 2014. She always emphasized that, while they were very much in love, they “did not live in each other’s back pocket.” She was strong and independent, and this was a statement that both of them honored through their commitment to each other.

Beverly loved all children because she was an only child and had always wanted brothers and sisters when she was young. She was very close with both sets of her grandparents, Iva and Norman Johnson and James and Dora Barger, and this sparked an interest in genealogy, a journey that she took seriously because her relationships with her relatives meant so much to her. Although she was a private person who lived a quiet life, she treasured her monthly get-togethers with her former co-workers after retirement, and she often ventured into crafting projects with her cousins. She was an avid quilter who also loved to embroider. She loved ice cream and chocolates and sweets of any kind and was always willing to share. Holidays with her parents, spouse, and children were of great significance to her throughout her life. She was a gentle, kind soul and she had a wonderful sense of humor. One of the best things about her was the way her smile lit up her whole face, and she smiled frequently. Her family was the most important thing to her, and she was always available with a ready hand to help, an ear to listen, or a shoulder to cry on. The world is a better place because of her, and she will be missed greatly by all who knew her.

“ I always enjoyed Beverly and her delightful laugh. I remember one time she was sitting next to her mother, Virginia, and one of her daughters Alicia, was sitting next to her. You could tell they were family - they looked so much alike! You could always see who her children were as they all had the same sweet smile.

She will be missed.

Fly to the angels and shine on, Beverly.

I'm devastated firstly because Beverley was such a sweet and sometimes sissy lady and also because she was the last connection to my mother. Sadly loved and missed.

“ Mother relayed a funny situation to m from her childhood. She was about age 3 or 4; her Grandma Iva was in the kitchen of her home and mother was staying for a day or so. Her grandma Iva was baking and had said “no” to mom about something Iva didn’t think she should be doing. Her Grandma went to the well and mother locked her out.

Iva asked her granddaughter to let her in but Beverly refused. She went over and kicked Iva’s stone. Iva had said please Beverly let me in. Mother kicked stove again.

Spoiled, selfish, only child. She was horribly vindictive when she didn't get her way...Still missed by her oldest son.

Thank you for your kind words. Mother really enjoyed genealogy research with you and especially loved going to the cemeteries, searching for old gravesites of relatives; she talked about how you both would use paper and pencil, chalk, or crayon to make a rubbing of the very old, hard to read tombstones.

Mother has quite a collection of photos, historical info family history books. She loved and missed you...

“ I will miss her so much. We had good times on cousin day. Sewing and talking. More talking than anything. She was a talented crafter and seamstress that I envied. She was kind to my mother Helen (her aunt) and her visits on Friday nights was always welcome. Our sympathies are with her children, family and friends
