“ It's been over a week and I still can't believe that she's gone. I have a happy memory. It was the early 80's and she and I were in the car alone. Not a common occurrence. The song "Walking on Sunshine" by Katrina and the Waves came on and we started singing to it. I remember that as clearly as if it were happening today. She was a vivacious, happy lady and I will miss her dearly. I still can't bear to look at my phone and see her contact and know that I won't be able to contact her. We weren't close the last 20 years or so and for that I'm truly regretful, but I'm so grateful that I was able to speak with her in the last year or so of her life.

“ My deepest condolences to Christines children, Devon and Ariel! The love these two children have for their Mother is simply unmeasurable. My heart breaks for their pain. May the family find peace without heartache during their time of grief. My love to Chris's family! I am certain Ms Lucy was there to greet Chris on Jordan River 🙏🥺🙏
