“ I went to school with David and I remember him as being a very kind person. We shared a lab table in Biology class and one day we had to dissect a frog. I was so very squeamish and he must've seen the blood leaving my face because he whispered to me to close my eyes while he "took care" of the frog. I'll never forget that because I was on the verge of passing out. Some people might think that was nothing, but for this me, I've always remembered it as a great act of kindness. Thank you David!
