“Dave and I put many miles on our motorcycles together. No one meant more to Dave than his Mother. Nothing meant more to him than his bike. Dave was a perfectionist. Detail oriented and a very good engineer. I was very happy for him when he started to get into a serious relationship. He faded away from me, but I was happy for him. I remember we were on a bike trip, heading out west once and we stopped at a waffle house for breakfast. Dave tipped our waitress 4 dollars for anow 8 dollar meal. I asked him why he gave so much to the lady. He said "I waited tables once, it's not a job you can get ahead on without people's help from time to time". That was Dave. Always courteous and thoughtful of others. I hope you get to ride every twisty mountain and canyon in heaven now, my friend.
