“ This woman was my paternal grandmother. I don't have many memories but ones that I hold dear are: her love for cats: Tony (green eyes and grey fur were her favorite, as I remember her telling me), I remember the smell of patchouli and an adventurous spirit. I remember a bright, beautiful smile and a love for nature. I remember book shelves with books, interesting items and plants. She was a beauty with a wild spirit. I can still remember her voice. Her smile was just like her mothers....beautiful.
