“ Dear Bull and Hosler families,
It was a memorable pleasure for me to meet my nephew's girlfriend, your Ella. She impressed me with her vitality, optimism, and nurturing spirit. I was touched by the caring connection that I witnessed between Ella and Zach. My heart ached for Zach as he sobbed during our long-distance conversation last Monday evening. He was wrestling with guilt for not being with Ella. All of you are understandably heart broken and devastated by losing your precious Ella. I wish all of you strength and love as you move through the burden of grief.
Be kind to one another and yourselves during this sad time. I extend my prayers and condolences to all of you. Sincerely, Deborah Keesling

“ Dear Bull Family, it was with great shock and sadness that I learned of Ella's death. She volunteered during the spring 2009 semester in my program for children with disabilities on the IU campus. Although I don't feel that I knew her well, I was greatly impressed with her commitment to the children and the program. She "jumped right in" and helped whenever and wherever necessary. I felt so confident in her abilities that I asked her to return as a volunteer in the fall. I regret that I will not have the opportunity to get to know her better and her loss will be felt among all of those who support and benefit from our program.

Nothing can take away the pain of her loss, but I hope that it will be of some comfort to know that she made a positive impact on many children with disabilities in our community. Both Ella and your family will be in my thoughts and prayers.

With Sincere Condolences

“ Ella was a beautiful person. She was a senior when my daughter Laramie was a freshman at North. She was part of the group on the soccer team that took the younger girls under their wing. Laramie looked up to Ella and appreciated her friendship and guidance. I appreciated Ella's maturity in looking out for the younger girls. Laramie also has epilepsy which gave them a common 'secret.' It was good for her to see someone else going through the same things and being successful and positive.

I am SO deeply, sorry for your loss. Laramie called me from college to tell me. We are thinking of you all and praying for you. May God bless you and watch over you.
