

John Nicholas Wanchic

June 24, 1960 - January 26, 2024

John Nicholas Wanchic, 63, passed away suddenly on Friday evening, January 26, 2024. He leaves his wife of 34 years, Cecilia Wanchic, and their four children, Nicholas (Annie), John, Sarah, and Michael; two beloved grandchildren, Vincent and Aurora; his sister, Nina; three brothers, Michael, Tom, and Mark; and special friends to his children, Shagnyne, Jake, Becca, George, and Kate.

John traipsed over a lot of land here in Indiana and in the home of his young adulthood, Kentucky. Everywhere he went, he left lasting friendships and communities. To remember John, picture him: a riverboat captain, reading the water's surface to avoid the dangers below; perched in a blind, watching and waiting patiently for the right doe or buck to pass; walking while intently surveying a field to uncover artifacts of the people who were there before recorded history. See him bent under the hood of a car, meticulously checking every system to find the problem (and once forgetting a rag), or working diligently to maintain his favorite place, his home and the woods around it. Finally, remember him surrounded by friends and family, telling legendary stories and listening to the responses, smiling, laughing, touching your arm or putting his arm around your shoulder.

Above all other things, John loved his wife and his family. His way of showing love, both to family and friends, was through acts of sharing and service. The bounty of his carefully tended garden, the maple syrup tapped from the trees on his property, the wild persimmons gathered from the woods, all were translated into signs of his desire to give. Abandoned animals also received his generosity. He was never without a cat or dog, or several, that he rescued and cared for. Even as his physical strength gradually failed him, he believed strongly in his role as a provider and worked to his utmost. He would work at a job or task until he was no longer able, but he never just quit. He always found another need to meet, another role to fill. John wasn't ready to leave us, and we were not ready for him to go.

Among all the people that you meet, you will never see another quite like John. He lives on through his children in the gifts that he gave: commitment, persistence, and love.

“ John was my youngest brother o I had the privilege of knowing him throughout all of the phases of his life. He was always the most positive person and found joy in the little and big things in life. He adores his wife and children and treasured relationships with the many people he touched in life. He will be missed

“ Share a good memory about John...So many memories that it would be impossible to do or this post would never end. So many memories, so many fish, so many times just hanging out. Anytime I needed a hand doing anything John was there to help. John helped and supported me so much during the illness and eventual passing of my wife less than 2 years ago that I could never express my gratitude enough. But then again that was just John, a caring, good-hearted person that would help anyone he could whether he knew you or not. Anybody that truly knew John knew he never met a stranger. Anytime you can go threw life without any enemies you've done something right in life and I sure don't of anyone that didn't like John. John along with Cissy really only had one job in life when they became parents It was to raise good-hearted, caring children and get them started in life and pointed in the right direction...mission accomplished.. Good job. John and his family has always treated me like family and I will always be grateful for that. It would be impossible for me to express how much I'm going to miss my buddy at my side but also I do know the pain he was in these past few months and know he doesn't have to hurt anymore. All I can say is rest in peace buddy and I'm sure going to miss you being around...Jon Figg

“ Loved it when John would tell his stories of his life as a boat captain and his arrowhead collecting. John had such a passionate personality especially when it came to Cissy and the Kids. He will be truly missed. Hugs and prayers.
