I just found out about LeaDawn's passing. My heart is broken...she was my best friend in middle school, and we shared so many memories together. One of which being her and I "stole" her mom's car (I'm so sorry for your loss Laura) we only drove it around the block and came back, but it was enough to get into trouble..or when we were 14 her and I pierced my little brothers nose! My mom was furious! We lost touch over the years, until about 7 years ago, I saw her and she invited me to her apartment for Christmas. I'm so glad I went. It was like we had never lost touch. She was so fun, funny. She was a great person inside and out, and she will be missed and forever loves in my heart. I'm sorry for your loss Momma Laura and family. You are in my heart and prayers.

“ *Lea was a candle so bright in this world that she lit up the area wherever she went. She will take that onto heaven. She will light up up the sky's so we will have to watch for that brightest star, that will be her. Compassionate, loving, and always there when you needed her.
