“ One of my fun memories was when Lynn and I were children. I had won two tickets to the Indiana Theater in Bedford to see the “101 Dalmatians”. I was maybe five when he was seven. I dressed up in a turquoise, polkadotted skirt and white blouse, and he had a white shirt, black pants and a bowtie. When we arrived, he told the usher that he wanted a “Tete (seat) for two”. We both set captivated by that moment. Life moved by fast. I still see the sparkle in his eyes talking about his children and grandchildren. He was captivated by each of you.

His physical struggles are over and my prayers are for the family to find a bit of peace and comfort in knowing you honored your father. Rest in peace dear cousin.

“ Lynn Dean was my uncle, my mother's youngest brother, but because we were only a year apart in age he seemed more like a cousin. I will always remember his kind eyes and loving smile. We had a lot of fun together as children when my family would visit. He was always interesting to talk with as an adult. He will be missed by many.

I love you uncle .... ❤️
