

M. Helen Lewis

July 7, 1915 - March 10, 2010

M. Helen Lewis, 94, of Bloomington died Wednesday evening at Meadowwood Healthcare Pavilion. She was born on July 7, 1915 in Monroe County the daughter of Homer and Hazel (Howe) Curry. A graduate of Bloomington High School, she attended Indiana University and graduated from the former St. Luke's Hospital (Rush Memorial Hospital) School of Nursing in Chicago as a registered nurse. She began her nursing career at St. Margaret's Hospital in Hammond, IN. Later she was an office nurse for Dr. Olmstead in Petersburg, IN and worked at Good Samaritan Hospital in Vincennes, IN. In 1960 she moved to Bloomington and worked as a school nurse for the Monroe Co. Community School System.

Helen was active in the Bloomington community, serving as a volunteer, helped give out the first polio vaccinations and helped neighbors with nursing problems. She took an active role in Bloomington community politics, held leadership positions with Habitat for Humanity, worked with Opportunity House and was a member of Fairview United Methodist Church.

One of the things Helen was well known for was her roses. She grew roses and took them every place, to family and to friends. She would take them out to dinner and leave them on the table, obviously for all to enjoy. Some people knew her as the "Rose Lady".

Survivors include one son and daughter-in-law, Stanley and Nayibe Hoggatt of Houston, TX., four daughters and sons-in-law; Janis and Bill Brand of Bloomington, Margaret and Richard Pluth of San Diego, CA, Ruth Lewis

“ *RuthAnn,
I certainly remember when your Mother was the nurse who visited the various schools I attended. She was met with laughter and glee when the visit was for routine health checks. It meant getting out of the classroom for a while. If she came to give shots, it was another story. She wasn't quite as welcome then. LOL. She was a part of the life story of a lot of us. I am truly sorry to hear she is gone. I will keep you and your family in my prayers.*
