“ I am so sad to hear this, yet happy to know Mike is no longer suffering.

Many happy memories of Mike...I worked when he made the adjustment to living in a group home and later his own home in supported living. It was quite the culture shock for him as things ran much differently there, than they did on the farm!

Still, Mike blossomed and in spite of himself came to enjoy his new life and the friends he was making. I'll never forget him.

Much love to the family ~
