“ I am sorry for your loss. Losing someone you love is very difficult. May you continue to comfort each other during this time. In addition to each other, there are promises held out in the bible which may provide you comfort and encouragement during this time. John 5:28,29 tells us that in the future, "those in the memorial tombs...will come out". The bible holds out the prospect of seeing our loved ones lost in death once again. Our Heavenly Father also promises to swallow up death forever (Isaiah 25:8). May these verses comfort you during your time of sorrow. For addition ways to cope with grief, please visit JW.org. Again I would like to extend my condolences to you all.
