“ Oh Debbie, what a great loss you must be suffering. My heart is with yours and my prayers, wishes and dreams too. I know how proud your Mother was of you, the things you did, the service you gave to her and our country as well as all the nights she probably couldn't sleep with worry. She lived a long life and her journey is not complete. Never let someone tell you once a person dies life is over, it only just begins and from what I have heard it is a begining worth the heartaches of life here on this earth. I know your heart is broken and will never mend completely. I have not yet lost my mother, God has been so good to me and I know it could happen any day. Bless you and your family. Terri
