“ I will miss you always, Philip. It's been 7 months and the sadness of not having you here is still overwhelming. It's springtime now and it's time to put the porch together for the summer. It's your favorite time of year, laying on the glider on the porch, sleeping with the dogs by your side, sitting on the picnic table, maybe going fishing or golfing today. My heart is always longing to see you again and one day I will. Love, Mom
