“ Raymond was good friends with my dad, Jim who passed away in January. He was a good friend to dad and a neighbor that all lived close together. The three of them did home repair jobs when they were in their late 70's. Raymond took good care of his wife, Thelma. He will missed by his children and family.

“ Since Dee and I have met him we have always enjoyed talking with him and hearing many of his stories. I remember visiting him in the hospital right after her broke his hip. When I came into the room and said hello Raymond, he looked at me and with a poker face said, "Who are you"? Once he realized who I was we had a wonderful conversation of his younger years. Facing death always moves me with so much emotion, and it leaves a lasting memory upon my spirit. I know he is in much better hands today with the Lord, and blessedly reunited with loved ones who have passed on before him. But we will cherish the short time we got to know him. Prayers for you all.
