“ I worked with Tracey years ago but we were still in touch. I talked with him last in January. He always spoke highly of me and called me the Meganator. He was such a kind man and he would have helped anyone when needed. His sense of humor was wonderful and we could relate on many topics. I enjoyed making him laugh. We talked about vacations and shared our details on travels and where to go next. He liked hearing about my kids and my fishing trips to local lakes or the ocean. He loved his dog Princess more than anything and she was spoiled rotten. He was tough but I was able to see his soft side-the caring person where he would give anything to help. He also loved his family dearly especially his sister. Sending my deepest sympathies to his loved ones and family.

“ I'm sorry to see that Tracey has passed. Tracey was my boss years ago. He helped me in many ways during some of my hardest times, and I'll never forget it. When I was pregnant with my youngest son, he put a wad of cash ($1000) on my desk, and said "buy that baby something nice!". He also helped me get my affairs in order when I needed to leave a very abusive marriage. He and I had a special understanding of each other. I wouldn't be where I am today without his mentorship and forwardly blunt encouragement. Condolences to the family.
