“ We wanted to send our condolences to Bill's family at this time of your loss. Bill was our cousin on his mother's side (Lucille and our dad Walter were sister and brother). We enjoyed talking to Bill at our mini-reunions and missed seeing him these last few years. To Judie, Patty and Bill's family, we know he will be missed.

Bill Mulryan was one of the best drill sergeants in the 2nd Battalion, 4th Brigade, 70th Division (Training) in the 1970s and 1980s. You see on the right shoulder of his Army "Class A" green uniform the blue Infantry cord he wore so proudly. Bill always, ALWAYS, conducted himself with the upmost professionalism in the Army Reserve, especially when with the entry level soldiers. He set the example for them and for those who served with him. There are no doubt men and women now about to retire from the military whose parents Bill coached through basic training at Ft. Dix, Ft. Benning, Ft. Jackson, or Ft. Knox. His contributions to the defense of the United States will linger almost as long as our memories of him. Bill, you were at attention long enough. Stand at rest.
